Peace Corps Exam For Placement To Be Held This Sat.

The Peace Corps will be conducting its next placement examination on Saturday, February 17, at 8:30 a.m. in the Ithaca Post Office.

This examination will not be competitive, and will serve as a guide for the Peace Corps in determining the overseas assignments for which applicants are best qualified.

Examinations will also be held on April 21. Students need not have filled out a questionnaire prior to the February examination, but if they wish to serve upon graduation this June it will be necessary to submit their questionnaire before taking the April test.

Upon completion of the Placement Examination, the applicant will enter a training program covering five general areas; U. S. History and Culture, history and culture of the host country, first aid instruction and physical conditioning, refresher courses in the specific skill to be used in the host country.

In conjunction with the placement examinations coming up, it is significant to note that we are also approaching the first anniversary of the establishment of the Peace Corps on March 1, 1961 by President John F. Kennedy.

FLIC SCHEDULE SET; ASSH COMMITTEES ORGANIZE PROGRAMS

According to Gary Kiev, Chairman of the College Union Planning Committee, a planned program of Union activities is underway.

Kiev indicated a strong student response to posters and advertisements has led to the formation of several student committees to look into the possibilities of Bridge tournaments, Ping Pong round-robins, and a schedule of weekly movies.

In addition, committees have been formed to organize and present such items as: Beat Hour, Jazz Concert, Variety Show, Game Programs, Art Exhibitions and discussions of important issues with guest speakers and faculty to participate.

A full program of weekly movies is scheduled beginning February 15 with "The Great Train Robbery." The program will continue with

A program of the Chamber Music of Debussy will be presented on Sunday February 18 at 8:15 p.m. in the College Music Hall.

The program has been planned in commemoration of the anniversary of the composer's birth and will consist entirely of faculty performers.

The program will be opened by cellist Robert Perry and pianist George Driscoll performing Debussy's "Sonata for Violoncello and Piano." The second number will consist of a selection of the composers songs for voice and piano performed by Lucille Baker and George Driscoll. Violinist Alcestis Bishop and George Driscoll will present Debussy's "Sonata for Violin and Piano."

The final portion of program will consist of Debussy's "Quartet Opus 10" performed by the Ithaca String Quartet-Alcestis Bishop, Peggy Stone, George Andrin, and Robert Perry.

Dr. Wiltberger Elected To Honored Academy Position

Dr. John F. Wiltberger, Lecturer in Clinical Orthopedics in the Division of Physical Therapy at Ithaca College and Honorary member of Pi Theta Phi professional Physical Therapy, has been elected as a Fellow of the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons.

The election took place during a recent convention in Illinois, which Dr. Wiltberger attended to learn of new advances in Orthopedics and to review the efficiency of older methods of treatment.

Dr. Wiltberger has been practicing Orthopedic Surgery in Ithaca since April, 1959. He received his M.D. from Ohio State University Medical College in 1947, and for

Winner of "Sweetheart" Title Will Be Crowned By Parlato

The brothers of Phi Epsilon Kappa have announced the names of five finalists for the title "Sweetheart of Phi EK."

Nina Burnett, Diann Sawyer, Sandra Race, Rachel Newdell, and Barbara Zembeck were selected as finalists. One of these girls will be crowned "Sweetheart" by last year's winner Barbara Parlato. Jerry D'Hont is Ball Chairman.

There will be a meeting of the ITHACAN staff tonight at 7:30 in the lobby of the Union Building. Present staff members are required to attend.

All students are invited to attend. No previous experience is necessary to write for the Ithacan. We have experienced members of staff who will be glad to share their knowledge with you. College Newspaper writing is a gratifying job.

Final Home Match For IC Hoopsters Wed; Vs. Hartwick

Coach Carlton Wood's charges will have revenge on their minds next Wednesday evening for their return engagement with Hartwick College in the season's final home tilt. Game time is scheduled for 8:15, following the freshmen encounter at 6:30.

The following Week Ithaca will wind up its schedule by traveling to Alfred, R.I.T. and Hobart.

Back on January 17, Hartwick edged the Bombers 63-61 at Oneonta. Cahill was the big gun, netting 19 points. Ithaca's Gary Gregorka, no longer with the squad, paced the Bombers with 18 counters while Jim Lockman tallied 16.

Nina Burnett is a Physical Therapy sophomore from Rochester, New York. At East High School she was a member of the student government, a cheerleader, a majorette, and member of the school's Senior Council.

Dyann Sawyer, a sophomore in the Physical Education Department, is a native of Wayne, Pennsylvania. Her high school career incorporated membership in Radnor High's Student Council, participant in the Senior Play, and membership in the High School Chorus. At I.C., she is a member of Phi Delta Pi and W.A.A.

Sandra Race, from Oxford, New York, is also a Physical Education sophomore. Her high school activities ranged from membership in the school's Dramatic Club to participation in the school band as a flute player. Here at I.C., she belongs to the Majors Club, the W.A.A., and the cheerleading squad.

Rachel Newdell, hailing from Bayport, New York, is a freshman entry from the School of Music. A french horn major, she also accompanies the I.C. chorus as pianist.

New WSG Rulings Ease Curfew And Visiting Policy

According to Dean Helen H. Hood, Dean of Women, a Women's Student Government Council meeting this past week took action on several measures.

The first measure was the Council's decision to make the frosh curfew 10:30 p.m. for weeknights. This enables the Frosh Women students to take the 10:15 p.m. bus up to South Hill instead of the 9:15 p.m. bus.

The second measure effected by W.S.G. permits Women students to be in the lobbies of Valentine and Quarry Dorms and the South Hill Men's Dorms, from 7-12 p.m. Proctors must be on duty and all women students must enter by the front door and stay in the lobby.

Students Shape Up

When we reduce the function of Student Council to that of a police force, we are reducing the capacities which this organization was meant to have.

Last semester, Council was called upon to recover stolen objects and return them to the College Union. Quickly, and quietly, Council recovered these articles through lecture and pointing out a sense of responsibility to the students.

Careless neglect of responsibilities might have proven embarrassing to Ithaca College. The closing of the lounge or snack bar or both would have been a difficult situation to explain to prospective students and their parents to say nothing of our own guests.

We of the Ithacan acknowledge the efforts of Council and hope that in the future they will not be asked to teach students ethical standards which should have been learned by now.

New Regime

Doing something for the first time is an experience that incurs mixed reactions—both in the doers and the recipients of the product. The new managing staff of the Ithacan would like to express a dual attitude towards this, our first solo publication. We realize, in very concrete terms, just how much we are indebted to our predecessors for the firm body of organization that they have passed into our hands. We feel a strong responsibility for maintaining the standards that were an integral part of our predecessors' policy.

At the same time, however, no organization can ever hope to remain static and still be a true representative of its student body. Our attitude at this present moment may be described as an "elastic" one which includes a willingness to shape new goals and grow in new directions as we, the new staff, attune ourselves to the needs and wants of the student body.

We are sure that you of the student body, receiving the end product of our labor, have various reactions also; apprehension, curiosity, pleasure, displeasure? Criticism can be a vital and constructive force . . . an indication of the awareness of the students, but criticism without action is stagnant! We would like to urge more of the I.C. "talkers" to become "doers" and perhaps contribute what they have to offer towards the improvement of their school newspaper. The Ithacan is opening its doors to those who are interested, and many should be, in becoming a functioning part of its staff.

Council Reporter

by Victoria Harding

The unauthorized removal of various objects from the lounge and cafeteria of the Student Union is under control, Harvey Snyder reported at the February 11th meeting of the Student Council, and most of the missing objects have been returned. Several large ash trays are still unaccounted for, but hope for their return is slight, as they have probably found their way far from Ithaca College by this time. Despite the unpleasant general aspects of the affair, it is noteworthy that the reacquisition was accomplished by an appeal from Student Council and Court for a voluntary return, rather than by any official action.

An ammendment to the Student Court charter was enacted to provide an Assistant Chief Justice, a Secretary and a Clerk, in order to alleviate the problem of overloading the Chief Justice with work that may be handled just as well by lesser officers. Jean Thomas was appointed as Assistant Chief Justice; appointments to the other positions will be made shortly.

Council put its stamp of approval on the new Speech fraternity at I.C., Sigma Alpha Eta.

Jeri Douglas, National Student Association representative, reported that the Eastern Regional Conference of N.S.A. will be held at Columbia University from February 23rd through the 25th. Five delegates from I.C. will attend to discuss topics of international importance. Student Council will cover their expenses.

The charter for the proposed Math sorority was vetoed because of a mistake in it which stated it would be under the control of the administration instead of that of Student Council. The charter will be revised and resubmitted to Council at a later date.

The confusion about the dollar collected at registration for second semester to be used by the junior class for their Spring Week-End is being cleared up by Council as rapidly as possible. A closed meeting was held on February 7th to facilitate the achievement of this end.

Other minor business handled at the regular meeting included the appointment of an Election Committee to simplify the rules and regulations governing school elections in order to avoid chaos this spring; a report from the Student Union committee that plans are underway to organize groups, to provide for movies, Art events, bridge-playing, "Fireside discussions," and dances at the Union; the official acceptance of the resignation of Jim Aversa as Editor-in-Chief of The Ithacan and the unanimous acclamation of Mike Ayers as his replacement; and the appointment of Larry Sargent to renew the plea for a mailbox on South Hill.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

At the most recent meeting of Student Council there was a motion passed to which I was the only representative to cast a vote of no, and in this letter I would like to express my opinion on the action which Student Council is about to take.

The Student Council decided on February 7 that the Junior Class was guilty of collecting money for the Student Activity Fund in an illegal manner. I am not disputing whether the Junior Class was right or wrong, but I am disturbed by the action which Council has decided to take.

The Council has set up an investigating committee to find out who was responsible for the illegality, and those thought to be responsible are being brought before Student Court.

The Committee, and the hunting for persons supposedly responsible, are what I object to. I think if any action were to be taken it should be taken against the Junior Class in general and not against its individuals. This action which the Council has chosen to take appears to me to be a case of "Witch Hunting" and "Macarthyism."

This years Student Council has an excellent record and I am proud to be a member of the organization. They have done considerably more work, and have accomplished more than other Councils of the past. I only hope this case will be the only blemish on its presently untarnished record.

Yours truly,
Larry Sargent '63

Costa Rican Election Has Significance for Mr. deAguero

by Janet Kaplow

On Monday, February 5, 1962, Francisco Jose Orlich Bolmarcich was elected president of Costa Rica, a victory having special significance to Mr. Edward de Aguero, assistant professor of Spanish at Ithaca College. The students of I.C. will be interested to learn that Mr. de Aguero, a native of Costa Rica, is related to the new President-elect by the marriage of his aunt to a brother of Orlich.

Orlich's surprising majority over his closest rival Dr. Rafael Angel Calderon Guardia is attributed to the enthusiastic and vigorous campaign of the National Liberation party, which Orlich represented, and its leader, former president Jose Figueres Ferrer. The failure of his closest rival is also ascribed to the undesirable pro-Communist, pro-Cuban tendencies of Calderon, who was also unsuccessful in his bid for presidential re-election against Itilio Ulate Blanco in 1948.

When Calderon refused to acknowledge his defeat in that election, Figueres became a protagonist of the revolution which ousted the adamant antagonist of the people's will. Figueres appointed Orlich as his Minister of Public Works at that time. Mr. de Aguero left home at the age of 17 to take an active part in the revolution by joining his friends and fellow countrymen in their struggle for justice.

Close Friends

Mr. de Aguero was a close friend of Orlich and Figueres during his youth, when they all lived near each other in a small village of Costa Rica which housed approximately 3,000 inhabitants. I.C.'s instructor of Spanish compares the attitude of the villagers to that of a "close family group" in which the daily activities of each member were common knowledge.

Figueres and Orlich, says de Aguero, are pro-American, and have been extremely interested in and aware of every new program the United States has incorporated in its foreign policy.

Improves Literacy

According to de Augero, Figueres has done a great deal to encourage education of Latin Americans and has been a major assest to his country in his attempts to prepare the people for the political duties as citizens. As we know, Latin America, because of the general poverty and ignorance of its peoples, has been a playground for communist infiltration; but, with the combined efforts of Figueres and other leaders of the country, Costa Cica has attained a high literacy rate. Since the country does not have an army, the government is able to concentrate a large part of the budget on the education of its people, says de Augero.

In 1961 Figueres opened a self-sponsored and self-staffed school for education in politics, to which he has invited all Latin Americans to attend.

It is no wonder that Mr. de Auero is filled with a feeling of satisfaction to learn of the popularity of his worthy compatriots as expressed in the recent election.

Mr. de Aguero

Cortland Topples Frosh Quintet As Sanford Scores 21

Coach Joe Hamilton's freshmen basketball squad will be seeking its tenth win of the campaign next Wednesday night when they go against the Hartwick frosh at the high school gymnasium at 6:30.

It was a case of endurance last week Tuesday as the Ithaca cubs with its "new recruits" dropped a 61-56 decision to the Cortland yearlings at Cortland.

Leading 41-32 at halftime the young Bombers were ahead 52-48 before the Cortlanders pumped in eight straight points to take the command with only a couple of minutes left in the contest. The homesters were still in reach at 57-54, but they put the icing on the cake with two straight buckets.

Four Red Dragons were in double figures while Wayne Lyke and Howard Sanford combined for 43 of the total points (22 and 21 respectively).

Dr. Kolmin In New Position; Seeks African "Talent"

by Barb Conley

Dr. Frank Kolmin, Assistant Dean of Arts and Sciences, had this to say on the African student program, "There is good academic talent there. What is needed is the chance for them to get higher education."

Dean Kolmin was recently invited to take a seat on the steering committee of the African Scholarship Program of American Universities. This is an honor both for Kolmin and Ithaca College. On the board, universities such as Barnard, Princeton and Oben are represented. As of January 1, 1962, the Cooperative African Scholarship Program, which was conceived and conducted from Ithaca College, merged with the African Scholarship Program of American Universities. CASP contributed forty-two colleges to ASPAU. ASPAU is now conducted from Harvard as one organization. Member colleges of ASPAU contribute four-year tuition scholarships. Other financial aid is granted by American governmental sources.

Dean Kolmin recently traveled to Africa to screen African students being admitted to two hundred American colleges and universities under the ASPAU program. Kolmin was one of nine members on the committee. Before the teams arrived, PSAT and Cambridge Overseas School Certificate tests were given to those eligible. Dean Kolmin and his colleagues administered personal interviews and now have the final results. February 9-10 Kolmin went to New York to recommend African students to universities for admissions. It will now be up to the individual institutions to admit the students.

Dr. Kolmin feels that these students have valid recommendations since they are "very mature people with an extreme sense of purpose. They are less interested in their own personal advancement than to build their own underdeveloped country."

Hockeymen Nip Ithaca Sextet; Host U Of R Fri.

The Ithaca College Hockey Club will host the University of Rochester Hockey Club at Cornell's Lynah Rink tomorrow night at 10:00 p.m. The following afternoon at five o'clock the pucksters will meet the Rochester Rockets on the same ice.

About 100 spectators were on hand last Friday night when the stickmen nosed out the Ithaca Boosters Club, 5-4, for their second win in ten outings.

A good crowd, with a special invitation extended to the faculty, is expected for this weekend schedule. All the remaining contests will be played at home.

J. C. Music

By Lois Chaber

In conjunction with last week's column, it is certainly propitious to emphasize the fact that all those who have any interest in the European tour are actually being presented with an opportunity for a "sneak preview" today at 4:15 in the College Music Hall. As one of the many facets of their fraternity educational program, the sisters of Sigma Alpha Iota are sponsoring this afternoon's showing, of "European Film Slides." The colored slides being presented courtesy of Mr. Joseph Tague, who is personally responsible for the photography. Mr. Tague will in addition supply the commentary and explanation for these slides showing the highlights of last year's tour. The program will be open to anyone who wishes to come.

Yesterday another student group, the M.E.N.C., gave its contribution in the form of a band concert. The members sponsored, planned, and made all the necessary arrangements for the presentation of the Cortland High School Band at the College Music Hall.

The band is one of about ninety pieces and is directed by Anthony Fabrizio, an alumus of Ithaca College. This is Mr. Fabrizio's first year as director of the particular high school band. Mr. Burton Stanley his predecessor, is now on the Potsdam faculty.

The M.E.N.C.'s purpose in sponsoring the demonstration was to give a concrete illustration of just exactly what is on at the public school level. This is one of the phases of preparation for those students here at I.C. who are potential members of the public school teaching field. As such the program was in the form of a mandatory assembly for the members of the School of Music.

It is significant to note that Mrs. Celia Stocum, professor of music education here at I.C. has recently been appointed chairman of the New York School Music Association. In this position, she will function in the capacity of an advisor to the students.

At the same time, John Casegrande of I.C., a junior in music education course, was elected president of the state organization. John, who hails from Bangor, Pa., is a clarinet major studying here under Charles Bay. In addition to belonging to the M.E.N.C., he is a member of Phi Mu Alpha.

Both Mrs. Stocum and Mr. Casegrande will be working with thirty chapters and a membership of more than 1,300 students at colleges and universities throughout the state.

Focusing on some of this year's faculty achievements again, we see that Assistant Professor Robert Prins was appointed First Horn in the newly organized Syracuse Symphony, conducted by Mr. Krits.

Professor Joesph Tague is the Province Governor of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Fraternity, acting in this capacity he was host for the Province 17 Workshop held here at Ithaca this past fall.

Elsa Ludewig has had quite an active year in addition to her teaching functions as instructor of clarinet. In October, Miss Ludewig performed the Beethoven Septet and the Schubert Octet in a program at Allegheny College in Meadville, Pa. That same month, she played the Bartoh "Contrasts" for clarinet, violin, and Piano in a Maygar concert in the Statler auditorium at Cornell University on October 28.

Varsity Matmen Humble Hartwick College 33 - 5; Iacovelli Decisions Foe

by Rich Janney

The Ithaca College varsity wrestling team lost only one match in a 33-5 trouncing of Hartwick College in Oneonta last Saturday evening.

Orlando Iacovelli, 157 pounder, remained undefeated in seven meets as he won the only match that went the full regulation time by whipping Jon Clark, 6-0. Clark was repeatedly warned for stalling and never gave Londo the chance to exercise his celebrated legs.

The host Pirates got off to a good start in the 123 pound class as Jim Wheeler pinned the Bombers' Dave Wilcox with a double grapevine in 8:36. Wilcox, who just recently returned to the mats after a two year lay off, has yet to regain the timing and condition that made him a standout grappler in his freshman and sophomore years.

Hartwick's advantage was short-lived, however, as Ithaca won the next seven matches, six by pins, to culminate its' biggest victory margin of the year.

130 pounder Lou Ricks continued his winning ways as he started the visitors rolling with a pin over Roger Fritts in 3:50 of the second period. Ricks drove Fritts all over the mat before ending it with a rarely used Japanese Keylock which tied the match up at five points apiece.

Bruce MacDonald, 137, and Phil Stephens, 147, followed with first period pins over their opponents and Hartwick never again threatened. MacDonald used a double arm to flatten Otho Brown in 2:77 while Stephens immediately followed suit by pancaking Jim Coffin on to his back in 2:45.

After Iacovelli's shutout decision, the Bombers were put back on the pinning track by 167 pounder Gary Ruberti, who needed only 1:28 to upend George Cogswell with a half nelson and crotch. Ruberti's lightning fast double leg takedown at the beginning of the match was one of the highlights of the entire evening.

Chuck Henke, 177, outmuscled and outwrestled Lou Cassella and made him look almost eager to join the others as he succumbed to a body press in 1:35.

Blase Iuliano, continuing his hot streak, nailed the lid on the long sealed Hartwick coffin by clobbering its' captain Wayne Irvine in the unlimited division. Iuliano, conforming to the established trend,

"The Village Heir"

The Ithaca College Oracle Society sponsors a musical production each year for the benefit of it's loan fund. The preparation of this production and its presentation are entirely under the concentration of the student body.

Scampers '62 was a fine success. Jim Aversa and Jay Tarses provided the scrpit; a musical comedy called THE VILLAGE HEIR. In comparison with the standard form of music comedies this one would have to be considered short. There's nothing set up, nothing fancy and nothing profound. It just goes. Bright, witty lines pop out of the briskly paced dialogues here and there in place of the standard set up type situation. These lines are funny, and they play well; but if you miss one you just have to sit back and wait for another. The script remains largely dependent upon its musical accompaniment and production business.

The musical element of THE VILLAGE HEIR must truly be considered its outstanding feature. Composed by John Whitney, it swings form catchy, finger-snapping melodies to moody, silent-humming rhythms. It's really good and provides the show with proper pace. Hats off for Mr. Whitney, Steve Brown, the arranger, and again Jay Tarses, who wrote the lyrics.

Craig McNab staged the entire production of THE VILLAGE HEIR. I believe it was a job very well done. His judgement with the scene transitions, some of which were executed in periods of total stage blackouts, was a careful one. The scene design, provided by Cliff Wardlle, apeared to call for a rather heavy gotten as soon as the lights were restored and the next scene underway. The sets themselves were inventive and played well. Director MacNab and Designer Wardle showed cleverness in their handling of the problems of musical production.

All of the individual performances were generally good. Some of course, were better. Mike Witmer, Linda Graves, Kathy Keating and Alan Groubard turned out good, solid leading roles. Witmer, as Elmer Gettle, used his face well in reacting to the carryings-on of a buch of bouncy beatnicks in New York's Greenwich Village. Miss Keating performed like the name Gracie Klemm sounds—strong and straight. She can belt a song with a RIGHT ! ! ! Miss Graves was very good as the romantic lead, Linda Drake. She was unhurried and played with an easy, graceful quality. She was especially charming with her solo song, "The Way I Really Feel." Al Graubard offered some clever flashes of comedy with his portrayal of Rollo, the owner of the center of attraction of the play, an expresso coffee house.

It is not difficult for me to consider outstanding performers of Scampers '62. The beatnick characterization presented by Jim Gregory was excellent. As Overt Allen he sang, shipped, preached, squealed, hog called and passed out, all in a delightful manner. Gregory was comical. We should see more of him on the Ithaca College stage. Another standout performer was Roger Harkenrider. His portrayal of Tonjes, another beatnick who pickets everything from funerals to Santa Claus, was on a professional level. The other night his presence on stage demanded my attention.

Other cast members were equally effective in minor roles. Martin Brodey was quite funny as one of New York's finest. Scott Hunter and Allen Rockwerk did nicely as Jacques and Couth, respectively.

Special mention should be made about the choreography of Rita Cornell which was perceptive and had audience appeal. When this girl's hands were in the bowl they were helpful and pace setting.

Credit should also be given to the production stage manager, Carol Berman. THE VILLAGE HEIR seems to be a difficult show to run backstage, especially with the inexperienced members of the cast and crew. Congratulations to Carol and her staff.

The idea of Scampers has succeeded for another time. It was a good show. Those who saw it must have expressed their aprecciation to everyone involved; those who didn't see it should make an effort to catch the next one. . . .

IC Organizations Schedule Ebbets, Jouglard, In Local Bowling Clinic

Professional bowlers Harriet Ebbets, a former IC graduate, and Lee Jouglard will highlight a "free" Bowling Clinic scheduled this weekend at Ide's Bowling Lanes and sponsored by the Ithaca College Bowling Club in conjunction with Ide's. Affiliate sponsors include the Majors Club, WAA, and the AMF Pinspotters Inc.

Harriet Ebbets, a member of the AMF Staff of Champions and among the most promising bowlers in the New York metropolitan area, holds a B.S. degree in Physical Education from Ithaca College (1957) has taught in public schools, and recieved her Masters degree from Penn State University last June.

While at Ithaca College, she served as vice president of Phi Delta Phi, was a member of WAA, and was associated with three Scampers productions.

Harriet, a born athlete, has been bowling professionally for only two years, yet her natural ability, fine coordination, and enthusiasm for the sport marked her as an outstanding potential bowler. For this reason, after only a few months on the lanes, she was soppted and hired as a bowling instructoress by a lane proprietor in her home town of Freeport, New York.

A bowling newcomer, Harriet has already won the 1960 Nassau County Match Game Championship by a 632 three-game series. In the 1960 World's Invitational Tournament, as an alternate, Harriet averaged 190. She recently won the Nassau Singles Championship, outstanding rivals over the forty-game series.

Harriet is an advocate of the four-step delivery and rolls a hook ball. Elperts feel Harriet has a good chance of becoming a bowling star of the first magnitude.

One of Bowling's all time greats and now with AMF Pinspotters Inc., subsidiary of American Machine and Foundry Company, makers of AMF Automatic Pinspotters, Lee Jouglard of Detroit possesses one of the sport's most imposing records.

Elected as "Bowler of the Year" by the Bowling Writers Association of America for 1950-51, he was the Number One selection on Mort Luby's Bowling All-American Team the same season when he set a new world's record of 775 (242-255-278) in winning the ABC singles title. At the same time he won the first ABC Masters invitational tournament and was runner-up in the ABC All-Events with 2,000 for nine games. Also that year he was a member of the Stroh team which copped the ABC team All-Events wtih an all-time high of 9,506. He currently ranks sixth in ten year ABC averages with 202.60.

Among his other major accomplishments were a "300" club diamond medal (he has bowled twelve "300" games), a "700" club trophy and his ten year league average (composite) of 210, high average of 217. He was runner-up in the National Match Game Championships of 1950-51, in which he placed third the year before. In 1952 he won the Michigan State Doubles Elimination with Pete Carter, and was runnerup for the Michigan State Match Game Championships in 1951, and again in 1952 and 1955.

Lee Jouglard

Earlier in the Far West in 1947 he won the San Francisco News Diamond Medal Tourney with an average of 211 for 44 games, the Ritz Classic in Salt Lake City with 1,754 in eight games, and placed seventh in the ABC All-Events with 1,925 games. In 1947-48 he was a member of the All-West Coast Team.

As a resident of Detroit for the past several years he has gathered in a number of coveted bowling titles chief among which were the Elks Michigan State Singles and winner of the Detroit Times Single Classic with 1,084 for five games. Each year since 1948 he has been a member of Detroit's All-City team.

The clinic, held as an incentive toward the sport, will run all weekend with Friday afternoon being reserved especially for Ithaca College Students. The exact time will be from 1:00-4:00 p.m. Anyone from the college may attend.

Tickets will be distributed throughout the weekend and drawings will take place. Prizes for the drawings so far include two bowlings bags, a bowling ball, bowling shoes and free games.

The clinic, a "county fair" set-up, will consist of instruction from Ebbets, Jouglard, films, and bowling displays.
